Excerpts from Maxima Redemptionis Nostrae Mysteria By Sacred Congregation of Rites

From Apostolic times Holy Mother Church has been zealous to celebrate annually the greatest mysteries of our Redemption, namely, the Passion, Death, and Resurrection of our Lord Jesus Christ, with a completely unique commemoration. In the beginning these rites were celebrated on the same days of the week and at the same hours of the day at which the sacred mysteries took place. But in the middle ages, the time began to be anticipated, certainly with detriment to the liturgy's meaning. The Easter Vigil especially, having been torn from night hours, lost its innate clarity and the sense of its words and symbols and lost its proper sorrowful character as the commemoration of the Lord's burial. From that time the attendance of the faithful decreased, much to be regretted, for the rites of this Sacred Week possess not only a singular dignity but also a particular sacramental power and efficacy for nourishing the Christian life. For these reasons, outstanding experts in liturgical matters presented strong petitions to the Holy See asking that the liturgical services of the sacred triduum be returned to the hours after noon, as was once the custom, to the end that all the faithful might more easily assist at these rites.
